

Table of contents

Preface .....	7
Introduction: why bell hooks? .....	8
1. Autobiography as a research field .....	17
1.1. An attempt at a definition .....	17
1.2. Extra-textual understanding of autobiography .....	30
1.3. Women's autobiographical writing .....	31
1.4. Features of women's autobiographical writing .....	32
1.4.1. Experience .....	33
1.4.2. Relationality .....	41
1.4.3. "The personal is political" .....	46
1.4.4. Writing as an empowerment strategy .....	48
2. Biographical work as a tool for self-empowerment .....	50
2.1. Autobiography as a practice of living .....	50
2.2. Biographicity as an emancipatory and developmental potential .....	52
2.3. Bildung : self-improvement and biography .....	53
2.4. Biographical work in the context of self-empowerment .....	56
3. The research approach .....	60
3.1. Sources, research questions and stages of the study .....	62
3.2. Close reading as a methodological postulate .....	64
3.3. Feminist methodology as a framework for autobiographical research .....	69
3.4. The biographical method .....	74
3.5. Analytical strategies .....	78

4. Reconstruction of bell hooks's biography .....	86
4.1. Historical and social context .....	86
4.2. bell hooks, or Gloria Jean Watkins .....	88
4.2.1. The pseudonym .....	92
4.2.2. "Talking back": views and writing output .....	93
4.2.3. Subject bibliography .....	100
4.3. Biomythography in autobiography: an introduction to analysis .....	102
4.3.1. Talking Back. Thinking Feminist, Thinking Black .....	103
4.3.2. Bone Black. Memories of Girlhood .....	105
4.3.3. Wounds of Passion. A Writing Life .....	106
5. bell hooks as a narrator, biographical subject and observer .....	108
5.1. The narrator: to speak with her own voice .....	109
5.1.1. The autobiographical stance .....	109
5.1.2. The temporal perspective of the narrative .....	111
5.1.3. The choice of experiences .....	112
5.2. The biographical subject: a Black woman from Kentucky .....	118
5.2.1. The feeling of loneliness: the relationship with the mother .....	120
5.2.2. The art of quilting: the relationship with the grandmother .....	124
6. Reception and criticism: bell hooks's self-empowerment ..	126
6.1. Writing autobiography as writing oneself .....	126
6.2. "I was mapping a different destiny": the process of becoming .....	130
6.2.1. The autobiographical potential .....	130
6.2.2. To speak with her own voice .....	132
6.2.3. Stigma as a developmental category .....	132
6.2.4. The processual nature of self-empowerment .....	135
6.3. Levels of autobiographical expression .....	136
6.4. Types of reality .....	138
6.5. Stages of biographical work .....	140
Afterword: to read bell hooks .....	145
Bibliography .....	149
Index of names .....	159